In this 17th century property, restored in the traditional style of the "Pays d'Auge", Mme Hamelin welcomes you in a place where charm, comfort and peacefulness are matched to the meticulous furnishings and decoration. The rooms, with TV, are on the ground floor, giving views of the flower gardens and grounds. Breakfast is served in the delightful dining-room, in front of an open fire on chilly mornings, or in fine weather on the terrace, if you so wish. Gourmets will be able to appreciate the freshly-baked varieties of breads from the local "boulangerie" served with home-made preserves. There is a laid-out car park near the accommodation within the grounds of the property. The web site www.leclosfleuri-14.fr gives you details of this protected village, reputed as "one of the most beautiful in France."
